1. What are cookies ?

Cookies are small text files that can be used by websites to make the user experience more efficient, such as your choice of language. When you visit the website again, this cookie is sent back to the website, which recognises your browser and can, for example, remember your language choice.

Cookies generally also have an expiry date. Some cookies, for example, are automatically deleted when you close your browser (so-called 'session cookies'), while others remain on your computer for longer, sometimes even until you delete them manually (so-called 'permanent cookies').

To find out more about how we process your personal data, visit our Privacy Policy.

2. Cookie management

You can change the settings applicable to cookies at any time, either via our pop-up message alerting you to the sending of cookies to your computer, by modifying your preferences via the settings window, or by directly modifying the browser settings of your Internet browser. In this case, please note that you may no longer be able to use certain functions that require you to register or collect your personal data.

You can find out how to configure your browser here:

Any changes made to the use of cookies associated with this website will be saved until you decide to make further changes.

3. What types of cookies are used?

When you visit this website, the following types of cookies are used:

A. Necessary cookies

Necessary cookies help to make a website usable by enabling basic functions such as page navigation and access to secure areas of the website. The website cannot function properly without these cookies. Given the technical necessity of these cookies, only an obligation to provide information applies.

Name	Provider	Purpose	Expiration
Csfrtoken	Nomics	This cookie prevents Cross-Site-Request-Forgery attacks.	1 year

Name	Provider	Purpose	Expiration
Cookie Consent	Nomics	Meta cookie for cookies that are set.	Indefinite
Session ID	Nomics	This cookie is necessary to enable you to log in, for example.	Duration of the session

B. Preference cookies

Preference cookies enable a website to remember information that modifies the way the site behaves or is displayed, such as your preferred language or the region in which you are located.

We do not use cookies of this type.

C. Statistical cookies

Statistical cookies help the website owners, by collecting and communicating information anonymously, to understand how visitors interact with the websites.

We do not use cookies of this type.

D. Marketing cookies

Marketing cookies are used to track visitors across websites. The aim is to display advertising that is relevant and interesting to the individual user and therefore more valuable to third-party publishers and advertisers.
